HANYA HOLM DANCES HERE TOMORROW

Kaufman-Hart's Satire On Hollywood Opens Here Thursday Night

Features Large Cast,
Yet Small Parts Are Definite, Says Gillis

The same type of rapid-fire stage action and snappy dialogue which made "You Can't Take It With You", the Kaufman-Hart comedy, a Pulitzer prize winner, is just as evident in "Once In a Lifetime", first major production of San Jose Players, according to James Clancy, director.

Chidingly satirizing Hollywood, its customs and personalities, the comedy will furnish local playgoers with a full two hours of entertainment Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights in the Little Theater at 8:30. Tickets, at 25 cents for students and 50 cents general admission, are available in the Speech office.

DEALS WITH ANTICS

"Once In a Lifetime" deals with the antics and predicaments of three vaudeville artists, one woman and two men, while they are earnestly trying to improve movie diction.

The play will feature one of the largest casts in the history of college productions, and although the cast is huge, even the smallest parts have definite characters of their own, according to Hugh Gillis, head of the Speech department.

TRIO PLAYS LEADS

Dorothy Leverenz, whose brilliant work in "Fancy Free" was a preview for many to the quality of her flair for comedy, will handle the role of May, the women vaudeville trouper.

John Ravano, first-year student, and new to most play-goers, (Continued on Page Four)

Students Give Music Recital

Advanced violin and chamber music students of Miss Frances Robinson, will present the second in a series of studio recitals tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock in Room 108 of the Music building.

Two numbers will be played on the program with Emily Ransom, violinist, opening the recital with the "Concerto No. 23" by the romantic Italian composer, Viotti. Miss Ransom will be accompanied by Miss Margaret Thomas of the Music faculty.

Concluding number on the program will be by one of the six string quartets of the chamber music division of the Music department. The quartet, composed of Jean Brier and Ellen Saunders, violins; James Diehl, viola; and Jean Teller, cello; will play Mendelssohn's "Quartet Opus 12"

Radio Society Holds Tryouts For New Play

Tryouts for a play, "For the Love of Glory", to be presented by the Radio Speaking society, will be held this afternoon in the make-up room behind the Little Theater at 12 o'clock, and Tuesday from 5 to 6, announces Annette Owen, director of the production.

"This play was written by Bob Gleason of the radio writing class, a two-unit course in the college's curriculum, the radio speaking society is instituting a new policy this quarter," states Director Owen. "We plan to present three plays a quarter, all of which are to be written by campus authors."

The cast will be all male, six in number, and to be selected by Miss Owen and Assistant Director Madge Schillerstrom.

'March Of Dimes' Proclaimed Here

Tomorrow has been proclaimed as "March of Dimes Day" at San Jose State college.

Following decision of this last week on the part of the student council, Steve Hosa, councilman, was named chairman of the college drive to secure funds for aiding infantile paralysis victims. His assistants are Doan Carmody and Margaret McCarthy, also members of the council.

Members of Spartan Knights and Spartan Spears, honorary service organizations, will be in the Quad from 8 to 5 tomorrow selling the "March of Dimes" buttons, it was announced by Hosa, Friday.

Orchesis Society Plans Luncheon For Artist

Other colleges and outside organizations are reserving large blocks of tickets for the Hanya Holm dance concert tomorrow night in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 8:15, according to Miss Marjorie Lucas, and she requests students wishing to attend to purchase their tickets today.

Student tickets, at twenty-five cents, are on sale today in the Controller's office, in the Women's gym, at a booth in front of the Morris Dailey from 11:00 to 2:00, and from any member of Orchesis.

Orchesis society has planned a luncheon for Miss Holm and her group Tuesday noon in the Tea Room. There will also be a reception in the Student Union after the program Tuesday night. Orchesis society, with Ruby Seimers, AWS president, and a representative from the student council will be hosts.

S. J. Brass Choir To Play Friday

Members of the San Jose State college Brass Choir, musical organization composed of 21 instruments of the brass section, will present a concert under the direction of Maurice Faulkner, music instructor, Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Grace Baptist church.

One of the featured numbers on the program will be an original composition, "Impromptu", written by Orrin Blattner, a member of the choir. This is the second time the choir has presented a composition of one of its own members. "Rhapsody in Brass", by Charles Pyle, was one of the outstanding numbers in the Brass Choir repertoire last year.

With a larger personnel than last year, the choir is planning a more ambitious program this year. Next appearance of the organization will be made on a tour of the northern part of the state beginning tomorrow.

Gus Kotta, Carruth Lead San Jose To Win In Reno

COURSE FEES PAYABLE NOW IN ROOM 2

Course fees are due and payable starting today, Harry Brakebill, of the Business office, stated Friday.

Payment of the fees may be made in Room 2, the Business office, and may be paid until Friday, February 9.

If fees are not paid by this date there will be a late fee charge, added Mr. Brakebill.

Johnny Allen Performs Brilliantly; Wolves Capture Second Tilt

By FRANK BONNANO
RENO, Nevada, Jan. 27.—When Capt. Gus Kotta and Hal Carruth, two pint-sized forwards on Coach Bill Hubbard's Spartan basketball team, have their shooting eyes, San Jose State is a hard quintet to beat.

SPLIT EVEN

On Friday night these two were exceptionally "hot" and San Jose won the first of a two-game series from the University of Nevada, 51 to 43. On Saturday night they were so cold they almost froze and the Spartans were severely dumped by the Wolf Pack, 44-36.

Carruth and Kotta handled the ball in the first tilt as if it was taped to their hands, had only to dribble up, make a quick feint—and Nevada's guards rushed past. The San Jose offense worked to perfection during the first game and the Spartans left the floor at half time with a 7-point lead, 26-19.

CARRUTH HITS SIX

Little Carruth hit the hoop for six field goals to garner 12 points and Kotta, playing a bang-up floor game, collected six points. The playing of John Radovich and Bob Hawley, who both stand over 6 feet 3 inches, kept the Nevada five in the picture during most of the

Hosa Extends Group Thanks

"I wish to thank all the students for their splendid cooperation during distribution of the new student photocards," Steve Hosa, card chairman, said Friday.

He extended further thanks to the committee composed of Bill Redrick, Bill Hern and Mary Frees, and to the faculty and especially to the Photography department.

The cards will be honored at all student body functions from now on, Hosa pointed out, and the only things it will have to be stamped for will be La Torre, or for functions requiring tickets.

The card must be stamped by Controller Thomas to be valid for the spring quarter, and students must present them upon receipt of their registration booklet for that purpose.

Loss of the card must be reported to the Controller's office, and a new one will be issued at a charge of fifty cents.

Tour Scheduled By Debate Club

A barnstorming tour of neighboring high schools, for the purpose of presenting a series of five seven-minute speeches, will be started by the Debate club during February, according to Charles Leach, assistant debate manager.

"Youth and the Roaring Forties" is the subject upon which the speeches will be based, with such topics as "Youth Adopts A Philosophy", "The Problem of Unemployment", and "The Future of Education" to be presented.

The talks are designed for the purpose of giving high school students a sample of college thought and introducing a challenge on the graver issues of the day. Leach states.

Debate club members giving the speeches will be selected by the executive council of the group, consisting of Leroy Troutner, debate manager, and his two assistants, George Hopper and Charles Leach.

SNOW FROLIC RATES SET

Snow-minded Staters will join the Norden Sugar Bowl trek on Saturday, February 3, in the Southern Pacific "Snowball Special" at reduced prices, if enough students sign up for the trip, it was announced today.

A coach rate of $4.15, round-trip, is offered for a group of one hundred or more students, and a price of $4.55 for a group of from 15 to 99 Staters.

TOURIST RATES

Tourist rates for the "Snow Frolic" are set at $4.65 for 50 or more students and $5.15 for from 15 to 49 Staters. This tourist or intermediate class rate does not include the additional sleeper rates of $1.35 for a lower berth, to accommodate one or two people, and a price of $1 for an upper berth, for one person.

These prices do not include meals, although food is served at all times at popular prices at Norden, according to reports.

TRAIN TIME

The train will leave San Jose at 8:45 p.m., Saturday night, February 3, and arrive at the San Francisco Third and Townsend street station at 10 p.m. The ferry leaves San Francisco at 11:40 p.m.

From the Oakland 16th street station the train leaves at 12:15 a.m. Sunday and arrives in Norden at 7:25 a.m., Sunday morning.

On the trip home the train leaves Norden at 4:05 p.m., Sunday afternoon, and arrives at the Oakland 16th street station at 10:02 p.m. Sunday. The ferry arrives in San Francisco at 10:30 p.m., and the train for San Jose leaves from the Third

A Place In The Sun...

Last May San Jose State college occupied a spot in the nation's limelight by being one of thirteen schools in the United States to be accepted for Civil Aeronautics training.

Today we have again taken the limelight in a similar manner. We have been chosen as one of thirteen colleges to have advanced aviation training in this same manner. From an allotment of 90 men in the United States, five have been chosen from San Jose. This alone is a distinction in itself.

Our flying clubs, ground school, and work in our first attempt at CAA has placed us well in front insofar as student aviation is concerned. Civil aeronautics authorities are well pleased with our progress and more and more students are soloing as their education progresses. Now our work has been complimented by placing a higher responsibility with our aviation experts.

Since orchids are in order, it might be well to congratulate Edward Bayley, Robert Cartmell, John Chestnut Fleisher, Glenn Kelly and Renato Simoni, with the two alternates, James Curran and John Johansson, for their chance in being the pioneers of this advanced training.

Cowpath Detour...

In a recent issue of the Spartan Daily, this column carried an editorial concerning "Washington Square's Cowpath" and what to do about it. Up to the present time nothing has been done about it, and according to E. S. Thompson, financial secretary, nothing will be done about it in the immediate future.

However, Mr. Thompson suggested a possible "out" for those students who are moaning about the unsightly appearance of the student-made path from San Carlos street to the Spartan Daily office.

The distance from the path to the sidewalk at Fifth street is only about half a block, and by starting from home 30 seconds earlier, students wouldn't be late if they would take the time to use the already established route.

Another suggestion fostered by Secretary Thompson is the extension of the fence already established along San Carlos street, to a point near where the Fifth street walk meets San Carlos.

Mr. Thompson indicated that the latter measure might be taken in the future, as it would be much less expensive than building a new sidewalk which would cost in the neighborhood of $1200.

Thinking It Over...

By GARDNER WATERS

In today's Thrust and Parry a contributor comments on the matter of "forcing" students to read "revolting and disgusting plays and stories". At first glance most of us are probably inclined to gasp, "Ye gods, in this day and age!"

Perhaps, however, there is something to be said for the individual who conscientiously believes such literature to be immoral. After all, moral standards do vary with the individual and most of us would resent it exceedingly if we were forced to adhere to mid-Victorian moral standards. Is it quite fair then to impose a more liberal standard upon someone who is just as strongly opposed to it?

If such an individual chooses to deprive herself of some of the best of literature because she deems it contrary to her standards, could it not be arranged to allow her to substitute other writings? After all, that would only be allowing her the right to her own judgment the same as those of a more liberal bent expect the right to their judgments.

As for the criticism of the art class, the Thrust and Parry contributor is leaning upon rather weak support. In the first place, as she would have found but had she investigated, no one is permitted to take that course except those with bona fide interest in the subject. Furthermore, no one is forced to attend that class.

Finally, if this contributor objects to reading certain literature on the ground that her particular moral standards are being imposed upon, she should at least be consistent and recognize that in condemning that particular art class, she is equally guilty when she seeks to impose her moral standards upon others.

Thrust and Parry

(Ed. Note: This column expresses the writer's views. The Spartan Daily assumes no responsibility for the opinions expressed.)

Thrust and Parry, dear Editor—

Because of my major, I of necessity must take certain courses in literature and drama. I realize that a girl today is expected to be broadminded and sophisticated, but I am an exception.

My objection is this: I am compelled to read revolting and disgusting plays and stories to pass these courses. I cannot see any reason why I should.

When a State Institution forces its students to submit themselves to smutty lectures and novels—something should be done!

Incidentally, there is absolutely no excuse under any of the so-called "aesthetic standards" to have a young woman nude before the entire class—on a feeble pretence of drawing naturals. As editor it is your job to investigate these obscenities.

I hope something is done to suppress this sort of thing.
 —Sincerely, "A Student".

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The first two paragraphs of last Thursday's Thrust and Parry column make me want to spank someone after the manner of the thrashing Giddy received the other day in "Boots and Her Buddies". Mr. B.M. is not only quite unfair but is also, in my opinion, an extremely poor thinker. He begins his unwarranted attack by labeling the Spartan Daily "a stale high school weekly" whose "columns and articles are written in a stilted, boring manner." One doesn't have to be a Westbrook Pegler to realize the falsity of such a statement.

For reasons which need not concern us here, I have had occasion to attend four institutions of higher learning—each differing considerably from the others in nature and scope. It is my honest opinion that the Spartan Daily compares very favorably in its class with the publications of any college which I have attended, and of course a good many more besides.

I can furnish scores of testimonials from the professors and from the (thinking) students of San Jose State to the effect that Thinking It Over is already "something really good." Every one of Mr. Waters' articles contain real food for thought expressed in an interesting and readable style.

Mr. B.M. further reveals the level of his mentality in his criticism of Miss Melton's library column. It seems to me, and I believe the powers that be will agree, that any one who makes the statement, "who cares about what goes on in the library" is an ungrateful dolt who by no stretch of the imagination deserves the educational opportunities being offered us practically gratis by the tax-payers of California.

A weekly humor column might be desirable but it isn't absolutely necessary in a student publication. But never mind, B.M., you couldn't appreciate it if we had one.

Very truly yours,
 —W.J.N.

The "Con's" Lament

By P. HAMMON

Today I got my student body card, with my picture on it. Under the picture was a number, with the following inscription: $5,000 reward dead or alive.

After seeing some of the other pictures that the student photographers had borrowed from the rogues gallery, I can quite understand why they have a probationary status for certain individuals.

The latest fad at San Jose State is to look at each others cards and give him or her (which ever the case may be) the compliment that at least it looked slightly better than yours.

But these new cards will not be able to help the student loan situation, now our dances will be attended by our schoolmates at San Quentin and Tehachapi.

At least I can now live a life of crime with the knowledge that I won't have to have my picture taken for the benefit of the newly-graduated police students.

I am seriously thinking of offering a reward of $5000 to the person or persons identifying the character that stares at me whenever I go into the inner sanctum of the library!

Generally Speaking

By BILL RODRICK

A good many students, it is reported, got their new cards all right but did not get the official San Jose State college seal stamped over BOTH name and photograph. Such cards are absolutely not good. Student Body Card Chairman Steve Hosa says, and like the old cards will not be honored. The Controller's office, however, will stamp the official seal on such cards anytime during office hours.

The college Drama department's presentation of Stanley Houghton's airy half-hour comedy, "Fancy Free" in the Little Theater last week was so good that further similar productions at convenient intervals during the quarter would be welcomed by anybody who chanced to attend.

As we understand it, the play was given here as an aftermath of its being produced for one of the city organizations, but should the Drama department find it desirable to present a regular series of half-hour comedies, student interest in such proceedings would at least justify it from that standpoint.

While considering giving benefit performances and drives for worthy charities, etc., it also might be well to consider a few worthy causes around the college such as band uniforms (already the recipient of a contribution from the Interfraternity-Interscholastic Councils) and the cooperative houses which could use a fund for both the further improvement of those which already exist and the development which we hope will come in the future.

Shirokoff Leads Frosh Paddlers To Easy Victory

Highlighted by two fast times turned in by Gene Shirokoff in the sprints, the freshman swimmers dumped the prep paddlers of San Jose high school in a dual meet Friday afternoon, 44½ to 19½.

Leading his closest competitor by a length and a half in the fifty and two lengths in the century, Shirokoff showed well for early season meets and will probably shadow the times of any varsity sprinter this year.

The frosh won every event but the 200-yard relay, being touched out in the eight-lap four-man swim.

Roger Frelier, a former San Jose high school boy swimming his first race for the first-year men, beat out his ex-mates in good time for the breaststroke, doing the 100 yards in 1:12.0 minutes.

Del Armstrong won the 220 in slow time for his first try at the longer distance. Porter backstroked his way to a win in the 100-yard dorsal event, but wasn't forced to keep much of a pace.

SUMMARY

50 yards—Shirokoff (F), Hazel (Hi), Weitzenburg (F) 25.3; 100 breast—Frelier (F), Rothwell (Hi) Hussey (F) 1:12.0; 220 yards—Armstrong (F), Mische (Hi), Davis (Hi) & Smith (F) tie 2:50.4; 100 back—Porter (F), Britton (Hi), Rico (F) 1:12.3; 100 yards—Shirokoff (F), Weitzenburg (F), Carpenter (Hi) 58.2; Diving—Majors (F), Dallas (F), Mosher (Hi); 150 medley—Frosh, 1:30; 200 relay—High school, 1:48.1.

Boxing Tourney Ends In Deadlock; Spartan Knights, Tau Delts Tie

The sixth annual Novice Boxing tournament ended in a deadlock Friday night, as the Spartan Knights and the Tau Delta Phi honor fraternity tied for the team championship with 26 points apiece. Each organization will be awarded the trophy for a six-month period.

The Hawaiian club was third with 20 points, and the P.E. majors fourth with 16. Eckert Hall finished with four points, while the 330 club was first with one point.

CAPACITY CROWD

A capacity crowd of over 2000 witnessed the fights, virtually all of which were slugfests. Eckert Hall with a siren and a yell leader, lead the organizations for the rooting award.

120-Pound class produced one of the best boxing bouts of the evening with Bob Webber of the Tau Delts winning the championship over Eldon Becker, Spartan Knight southpaw. Both boys boxed cleverly with Webber having a slight edge in a very close and hard-fought match.

The heavyweight class was the thriller of the evening with Dave Osmond, slugging wrestler of the Hawaiian club, winning the title over Bob Ashcraft. Ashcraft was the better boxer, but Osmond's unorthodox slugging tactics, and aggressiveness was enough to win the title.

Another thriller in the 118-pound class pitted Jim Fahn of the P.E. majors against Bud Rideout of the Spartan Knights. Fahn and his wild swings was too strong for Rideout and floored him in the second, but in the third, Rideout again began to get the range with a long left jab, and a hooking right that brought the crowd to its feet as the boys stood toe to toe. Fahn received the decision.

Three football players also looked impressive in winning championships. Jack Sarkisian KO'ed Usher Tucker in the second round of the 175-pound bout, while Aubrey Minter and Dick Hubbell won the 155 and 165 pound championships respectively.

Semi-final results:
155—Groves dec. Riley.
155—Minter TKO over McCarthy.
165—Triplett dec. Soulds.
165—Hubbell dec. Tallent.
Heavyweight—Osmond dec. Jim Cummings.
Heavyweight—Ashcraft dec. Bob Hamill.

FINAL RESULTS

120—Webber dec. Becker.
127—Fahn dec. Rideout.
135—Payne dec. Hill.
145—Murdock dec. Peebles.
155—Minter dec. Groves.

Varsity Cagers Divide Games With Nevada

first half.

The San Jose opening five of Kotta, Carruth, Urhammer, Allen, and Tornell played most of the game. Tornell, starting his first game of the season at guard in pace of Maestri, gave a good account of himself. John Allen, playing nearly the entire game was in on almost every play, bounding in to the air to intercept pass after pass. He received a tremendous hand from the partisan crowd when he finally left the game.

On Saturday night the Spartans, slightly overconfident, proceeded to throw the ball game away with sloppy ball handling and poor team work.

RADOVICH HITS HOOP

Nevada jumped to an early lead and was never headed. Allen and Tornell hit the hoop for field goals after four minutes of play that finally put the Spartans in the scoring column. Radovich was again the man responsible for the fine showing put on by Nevada. His tip-in shots under the hoop could not be stopped by the Spartan defense and San Jose trailed at half time, 26-19.

LATE RALLY

With only four minutes of game time left San Jose's rally in the late stages was not enough to nip the Nevada five, despite the loss of Radovich and Etchemendy on personal fouls.

Again John Allen was in the thick of the battle, but his work was not enough to turn the tide of battle in favor of the Spartans. Olson and Thompson sank two field goals in the closing thirty seconds that sewed up the game, 44 to 36.

165—Hubbell dec. Triplett.
175—Sarkisian KO'ed Tucker.
Heavyweight—Osmond dec. Ashcraft.
